

The Girls Prep Experience

Girls Prep is a vocal training program for Vocalpoint! Seattle, designed specifically for highly motivated middle-school-age girls in 7th or 8th grade, with strong music talent and aptitude. Girls Prep is a rigorous, two-year program that focuses on sight-singing, ear training, rhythm skills, ensemble and lead singing, and performance technique. Successful graduates of Girls Prep move into Vocalpoint! Seattle, an ensemble of high-school-age students with an emphasis on performance of popular music. Girls Prep and Vocalpoint! Seattle are part of the Northwest Choirs, with over 40-years of excellence in music education and vocal performance.

Auditions Coming Up

Auditions for the next Girls Prep class will be held in June 2018. Auditions are conducted in two phases.

The first is an individual audition with the music director of the Northwest Boychoir & Vocalpoint! Seattle. This is casual and private (although parents are encouraged to sit in.) Each girl is asked to prepare a solo piece for the audition.

The solo should be an art song, a Broadway show tune, or a selection from classic rock 'n' roll repertoire. Those auditioning should bring sheet music for the accompanist.

A small group of girls will be invited to participate in a mandatory call back audition the week after, which is the second phase of the audition process. Call backs are designed as a group experience and consist of a series of music drills conducted in a rehearsal setting to establish a more thorough understanding of each individual's musical aptitude, as well as to determine group participation skills.

Not only does talent play a factor in selection, but so does each girl's ability to interact as a member of a group. New members will be selected following the call back auditions.

In Rehearsal

A small group of girls is admitted to each Girls Prep class, ensuring highly focused learning. Weekly rehearsals are held year-round at the University Heights Center and are team-taught by members of the Northwest Boychoir & Vocalpoint! Seattle staff, and are led by music director Joseph Crnko. Over the course of the two-year program, members will learn basic music theory, sight-reading skills, technical aspects of voice production, and the practical aspects of live performance. In addition to becoming highly skilled musicians, members develop a strong sense of commitment, discipline and teamwork. They represent many public and private schools, thus providing a broad-based experience during critical middle-school years and members have developed strong bonds and friendships with one another that carry over into the high school years and participation in Vocalpoint! Seattle.

In Concert and Performance

An important part of the Girls Prep experience is the development of each vocalist as a performer. Girls Prep stages informal concerts for families and friends twice a year, to showcase each member in both lead and ensemble work. In addition, the members of Girls Prep come together with the Northwest Boychoir and Vocalpoint! Seattle in December for the annual presentation of A Festival of Lessons & Carols. This 9-concert series is presented throughout the Puget Sound region. Known nationally for its premier music education program, more than 200 children and “I was so incredibly thrilled to work with ...Vocalpoint in my recent concerts with the Seattle Symphony. When I first met and heard them, I was blown away by the fact that these guys were still in High School! They have a musicality, sense of pitch, and professionalism the belies their years. I’ll happily work with them again...anytime and anywhere.”
